World Bee Day

World Bee Day is celebrated on the 20th May each year. This day is to help remind us of the importance of bees. Bees are important not only for our survival but also for the environment. Bees help pollinate our food and nectar bearing plants. The bees are wonderful builders.

A bee-hive is an amazing structure, the bee-hive is made up of cells. Some of the cells are for storing the honey, other cells are used as bedrooms and sitting rooms. Bee-hives are normally made on the branches of trees. But sometimes they are also made on the walls and on top of windows of the house.
