

2 Day 8 Ways Roadmap to understanding 8 Ways Aboriginal Education Pedagogy

at the Australian Museum, Sydney – Tuesday 25 & Wednesday 26 November 2025

Does this sound like you?

- I want to embed First Nations perspectives, but I don't know where to start.
- I'm worried about getting it wrong or being tokenistic.
- I don't feel confident teaching culture when I'm not sure what's authentic.
- I wish I had practical examples, not just theory.

You're not alone. Many teachers feel the same way.

This 2-day training is designed to change that.

Through the 8 Ways Aboriginal Pedagogy PD, you'll learn how to:

- Bring culture into your classroom naturally and respectfully
- Learn how easy it is to align First Nations culture to any theme or curriculum area
- Use practical tools and strategies you can apply the very next day
- Build confidence in teaching with cultural integrity
- Understand the difference between "add-ons" and authentic embedding
- Guided First Nations educator tour of Garrigarrang: SeaCountry, the Museum's permanent exhibition that honours the cultures, creations, and caring practices of Salt Water People across Australia. Then learn how to utilise this knowledge into your classrooms using the 8 Ways pedagogy.

What others are saying about this 8 Ways training

How to embed the 8 Ways into our teaching and unit plans. I loved the connections I have made and can't wait to share with the leaders at my school.

Anonymous – Primary Educator

Time to unpack 8 ways of learning which I have looked at academically but never spent time translating how to use it in my context.

Kate – Primary Education Leader

Empowering, engaging, in depth, you explained the how and the why behind pedagogical approaches, regular breaks, promotion of different learning styles, small group work.
